

Addendum, Additions and Corrections
Live Webcast Auction
October 31, 2021

Lot 56. CORRECTION added to condition report on October 14, 2021: We believe the luminous paint on the dial has been relumed, however it does test under a Geiger counter.

Lot 73. CORRECTION added to description on October 22, 2021: The coin is a Liberty Head, not Saint-Gaudens as originally stated.

Lot 131. ADDITIONAL INFORMATION added on October 6, 2021: The case of this example is particularly interesting as it is marked for a retailer; A.M. Ward of 194 Main St, Hartford, Connecticut; that enthusiastically advertised his offering of the Samuel Curtis watch. Please see our photos for a copy of Ward's advertisement titled "America Against the World" which is found in the April 13th, 1855 issue of the "Hartford Courant." This ad is notable as industrial American watchmaking was still in its infancy during the mid-1850s, but Ward clearly understood the potential of this new industry and saw the advantage of promoting the emergence "this great American triumph" as a selling point.

POSITIVE UPDATE TO CONDITION REPORT added on October 6, 2021: We have updated our assessment of this case from believed to be "likely original" to believed to be "original" due to the added historical evidence from the advertisement with its impeccable correspondence of the retailer's marking with his advertisement for this specific watch type.

Lot 149. This coin has been pulled from the auction.

Lot 150. This coin has been pulled from the auction.

Lot 343. CORRECTION added on October 14, 2021: The movement has a cylinder escapement, not a verge escapement.

Lot 373. POSITIVE CORRECTION added on October 5, 2021: Repeat now functions correctly! (A minor adjustment fixed the issue noted in our original condition report.) Also, the plastic crystal cracked, so we have replaced it with a better glass crystal.
